Small Youngster Enters Humble Steed For Prize

Please, mister, is there where you k about the Floral Parade?" was he question put to Will J. Cooper aturday afternoon. The six-foot ublirity man of the Promotion Committee looked down, and there he saw chubby little youngster whose head ardly showed above the counter top Cooper gravely informed his integrogfor that he had come to the right

"Well, I want to enter my goat." For once Cooper was stumped. A eference to his list showed an autoec, a bicycle committee, an equestriin committee, and several other comnittees, but nowhere could he find Director Petrie happened to be in he Proportion Committee's rooms at he time, and to him Cooper turned in his perpiexity. Petrie has had some experience with goats in Shriner paides, but he insisted that he could fier no suggestions regarding the dis sition of such animals in a Fforal Parade. The proud owner of the burned steed was very much in earnc, however, and the more Petrie hought it over the more certain he crame that that very goat was need-est to make things a success.

The nearest committee chairman happened to be Manuel Peters, who has charge of the bicycle section.
